Honey Jane, her will was proved October 9, 1678. She was a daughter of John Hide, citizen and draper, of London, who was buried October 2, 1617. In his will, dated February 26, 1616, John Hide bequeathed to his daughter Margaret Olcott twenty shillings, for a ring, and to his son-in-law, her husband, his best cloak.

The children of Thomas Olcott and Margaret Hide,

MAY 15, 1941.

The descendants of Josiah Olcott and Deborah Worth, his wife, may be interested in an article by Robert H. Olcott, of Oakland, Calif., contained in The American Genealogist (Vol. XIV, No. 4, pages 229-237), entitled, "The English Origin of Thomas Olcott of Hartford, Conn."

In view of the data embodied in this article, it is now evident that Thomas Olcott, the Hartford Settler, was a son of Thomas Olcott and Margaret Hide (Hyde), his wife.

Thomas Olcott, the father of the Hartford Settler, in his will (dated May 16, 1626, and set forth in full in the aforementioned article) described himself as a citizen and dyer of London and stated that he was born in the parish of Wybunbury, County of Chester, England, and lately dwelt in the parish of St. Lawrence in the Old Jury, London. He was buried December 14, 1627, and a footnote to the record of his burial refers to him as "Mr. Thomas Olcott, citizen and dyer of Aldermanbury, London." Margaret Hide, his widow, married, second, in Aldermanbury, December 22, 1628, George Chalfont, of Honey Lane. Her will was proved October 9, 1678. She was a daughter of John Hide, citizen and draper of London, who was buried October 2, 1617. In his will, dated February 26, 1616, John Hide bequeathed to his daughter Margaret Olcott twenty shillings, for a ring, and to his son-in-law, her husband, his best cloak.

The children of Thomas Olcott and Margaret Hide, his wife, were baptized, as shown by the Registers in the parish of St. Lawrence Jewry, on the following dates:

November 15, 1607	Mary Olcott
September 29, 1609	John Olcott
February 2, 1613	Thomas Olcott
September 22, 1616	Randall Olcott
April 19, 1618	Henry Olcott
December 23, 1621	Samuel Olcott

As the first three children were mentioned in the will of their father and the last three were not, it is probable that Randall, Henry and Samuel predeceased him. In view of the date of the baptism of Thomas Olcott, the Hartford Settler, it is probable that he was born several years later than the hitherto supposed date of 1609 and was probably approximately forty-one years old at the time of his death in 1654.

In his will, dated November 20, 1653, Thomas Olcott, the Hartford Settler, made bequests to his mother, "Mrs. Margrett Charlfount," and to his sister, Mrs. Mary Hardy. In the will of Robert Hardy of England, drawn May 28, 1661, and proved December 18, 1662, bequests were made to his wife Mary and to his "mother, Mrs. Margrett Chalfont." Thus has been demonstrated the marriage of Mary Olcott, daughter of the elder Thomas Olcott and Margaret Hide, his wife, to Robert Hardy. After his death she married, second,—More, and her will was proved October 19, 1678.

OLCOTT ANCESTORS.

The Olcott family in America is of English origin. The name has been found spelled Alcock, Alcocks, Alcocke, Allcocks, Allcox, Alcox, Alcot, Alcott, Olcott and Oleot, as well as Olcott. However, the spelling Olcott was adopted by the American ancestors of Josiah Olcott.

Apparently, there were two men of the same name who came to America: one, called Thomas Alcock, settled in Boston and its vicinity; the other Thomas, who adopted the spelling Olcott, settled in Hartford and was the ancestor of Josiah Olcott.

I.

Thomas Olcott was born about 1609, and came to America from England, where he had been educated as a merchant. The first name of his father is not known. In his will Thomas Olcott mentions his mother as Mrs. Margaret Charlount, who in 1678 was a resident of Sepulchre's Parish, London; her will was probated on October ninth of that year, being dated the previous August sixteenth. Possibly Thomas Olcott was one of the company that preceded Hooker to America in 1632, or possibly he came over with Hooker in the ship "Griffin," of 300 tons, which arrived at Boston, September 4, 1633, after a passage of eight weeks from the Downs, bringing about two hundred passengers. Henry S. Olcott in his preface to the revised edition of The Descendants of Thomas Olcott states that Thomas Olcott was one of Hooker's followers who settled Hartford, Conn. It was about the beginning of June, 1636, that the Reverend Thomas Hooker, with his assistant, Samuel Stone, and about one hundred men, women and children took their departure from Newtown (now Cambridge), Mass., and traveled more than a hundred miles, through the wilderness, to

Hartford. According to Benjamin Trumbull, D.D., in his History of Connecticut, they had no guide but their compass, and made their way over mountains, through swamps, thickets and rivers, which were passable only with great difficulty. They drove with them a hundred and sixty head of cattle, and generally carried their packs, arms and some utensils. Mrs. Hooker was borne through the wilderness upon a litter. They were nearly a fortnight on their journey.

The name of Thomas Olcott appears (as Thomas Alcott) on the monument erected in Hartford to perpetuate the memory of its first settlers and located in the center of the ancient cemetery which fronts on Gold Street, in the rear of the old First Church, commonly known as the Center Church. The Hartford records show Thomas Oleott (the name sometimes also being spelled Alcock, Alcot, Alcott and Olcott) figuring as an original proprietor, a landowner and resident, a constable, a merchant contracting to pay large sums, a plaintiff suing in court, and a voyager to Virginia. He is listed as one of the Hartford residents who served in the Pequot War. He was active in real estate transactions. On January 3, 1639, he received eight acres of land in a distribution of undivided lands. He is recorded as having purchased at various times some fifty acres of land at Hartford, and between 1640 and 1648 he acquired more than twenty parcels of property at Wethersfield. However, Thomas Olcott's chief interest was in his mercantile and trading enterprise. His activities took him often to the Maryland and Virginia colonies, as well as those nearerer Connecticut. His volume of business was great and his success immediate. Numerous trade bills concerning his business are to be found in the early colonial records.

In a collection of articles on the early settlers of Hartford by Scæva (pseudonym of the late Hon. Isaac

W. Stuart), published in 1853 under the title Hartford in the Olden Time, Thomas Olcott is mentioned as one of the two Constables of Hartford in 1640. It gives a summary of a document dated May 26, 1653, signed by Governor Peter Stuyvesant and entitled A short Abstract out of the Register, and record of Passages betwixt the New Netherlands and the English nation, etc., which in part is as follows:

“1. That April 25th, 1640, the English in Hartford not only prevented the Dutch there from sowing lands which the latter had purchased and broken up, but themselves sowed these lands with corn—that they beat the servants of the honored Company when they were laboring in their masters’ fields, and drove them off with sticks and plow-staves, ‘in hostile manner laming’—and that in particular, among the rest, they ‘struck Ever Duckings a hole in his head, with a stick, so that the blood ran down, very strongly down upon his body.’

“2. That April 25th, 1640, the Constable of Hartford came upon the Dutch land, with ten armed men, when the Dutch were plowing, and smote their horses with sticks so that the latter were frightened and broke their ‘geares in sunder’—and that notwithstanding a formal protest made to Mr. Hopkins, then Governor, the English continued to hinder them in the possession and cultivation of their land, ‘yea with blows and strokes even to the shedding blood, as can be justified.’ ”

Thomas Olcott married, probably in England, Abigail — (possibly Porter), and is believed to have died in 1654 while on a trading voyage to Virginia. His widow died May 26, 1693, aged seventy-eight years.

II.

Thomas Olcott, eldest child of (I) Thomas Olcott and Abigail, his wife, resided at the homestead situated on Main Street, between Talcott and State Streets, Hartford, which his mother had purchased from Joseph Fitch. He married Mary ——. He was admitted a freeman of the colony in May, 1658. In February, 1668, he was elected a Constable, and served as one of the “List and Rate Makers” in 1680, 1681 and 1682. He acquired considerable land on the “east side of the Great River” and in Wethersfield, Conn., and with his brother John was devised some thirteen and a half acres in the “South Meadow.” He lived to an advanced age, and executed a deed to his son Thomas which was dated February 14, 1719. His widow died in Windsor, Conn., May 3, 1721.

III.

Thomas Olcott, son of (II) Thomas Olcott and Mary, his wife, was born in Hartford, and resided both in Hartford and in Wethersfield. He married, November 30, 1691, Sarah Foote, daughter of Nathaniel Foote, of Wethersfield, Conn. Thomas Olcott was a weaver by occupation. The date of his death is unknown; it was subsequent to February, 1719. His widow died July 24, 1756, in her eighty-sixth year.

IV.

Thomas Olcott, youngest child of (III) Thomas Olcott and Sarah Foote, his wife, was born in 1713, probably in East Hartford. He removed to Stratford, Conn., and married, second, November 10, 1757, Sarah Tomlinson, widow of Hezekiah Thompson. She was a daughter of Zachariah Tomlinson, of Stratford. Thomas Olcott died May 3, 1795, and his widow died May 11, 1811, in her eighty-ninth year.

V.

Josiah Olcott (see 1, page 17) was a son of (IV) Thomas Olcott and Sarah Tomlinson, his second wife.

Among the papers of a granddaughter (now deceased) of (V) Josiah Olcott, there was found a handwritten and unsigned memorandum, evidently written by a child of (V) Josiah Olcott and a grandchild of (IV) Thomas Olcott. It refers to the grandfather of (V) Josiah Olcott and the father of (IV) Thomas Olcott as "Josiah Olcott, the elder." This no doubt was an error, as his first name was (III) Thomas according to the published record by Nathaniel Goodwin of the descendants of (I) Thomas Olcott. There follows a copy of this manuscript in so far as it refers to the Olcott family:

"Josiah Olcott, the elder, father's grandfather, began living about the year 1675. In early life he took to farming and Miss —— [name illegible]. By the former he obtained a large flock of sheep, and by the latter four children among whom was grandfather, Thomas Olcott. The old gentleman was frequently in the habit of accusing himself of bigamy, asserting that his farm was first loved and first wedded, and in all his lectures to our good great-grandmother, and they were not few, he invariably closed by comparing the products of the one with that of the other. The value of his sheep and the cost of his children were always antagonistic entries, and this, so far as history develops, was the only debit and credit account the old gentleman ever kept. At the birth of his son Thomas Olcott, which happened at East Hartford, Connecticut, in the year 1713, about shearing time, much family commotion ensued. As the fleece promised well and the demand for it was great, a more than usual expenditure took place, and our grandfather was christened Thomas on the morning after his birth, and with due solemnity fed on lamb broth, a ceremony peculiar to the Olcotts and looked upon at that time as typical of their pastoral habits and love of peace. (Here a leaf is missing in the family record which deprives us of any further knowledge of our great-grandfather. He doubtless died.)

“Thomas Olcott, our grandfather, was a reasonable man and inherited his father’s love of agriculture tho’ not his antipathy to children. He was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Easton, by whom he had one son and one daughter, John and Sarah. His second wife was a widow Thompson, whose maiden name was Sarah Tomlinson. She was the daughter of Zacheriah Tomlinson, a worthy man, who was blest also with seven sons. She too at the time of her second marriage had two children, so in this respect she was equal to our grandfather. By the widow Thompson, who lived to the great age of ninety-three, he had five children, two sons and three daughters, viz.: Thomas, Josiah (our father), Hannah, Mary and Anna. Hannah married Beach Johnson [Judson, according to Goodwin]; Mary, Nehemiah Gorham; and Anna, Dr. Isaac Bronson. The Johnsons, from their unfortunate name, have long since been lost sight of. Some of the Gorhams are still extant—Julia, the wife of Judge Senator [Samuel L.?] Edwards, came from this branch. The Bronsons are more flourishing, and are as well known for their wealth and bad looks as they are for their peculiar and unfortunate dispositions.

“Our grandparents died at mature old age, not however till after the birth of their son Josiah, our father, who was born at Stratford, Connecticut, on the 19th day of July, 1760.”

WORTH ANCESTORS.

The Worth family in America is of English origin. Three brothers, sons of John Worth of Devonshire, England, emigrated to America—two, William (the ancestor of Deborah Worth) and Lionel, going first to Salisbury, Mass., and the third, Richard, to New Jersey near the Raritan River.

Most of the dates here used regarding the Worth ancestors are taken from Starbuck's History of Nantucket, from which the following is quoted:

“In a large part of the early history of the Island the rule has been to follow the dates as shown by the Records. Those, after so large a number of the residents had become Friends, followed the custom of the Friends in using numerals to express the months. This statement is particularly applicable to the Genealogical portion of the work which relies very much, and with excellent reason, on the Records of the Friends. Naturally the question arises when was the change made in the Friends' Records to make January the first month instead of the eleventh.

* * * Dates then prior to 1753 make March the first month and from 1753 January has been the first month. The general rule which has been followed in this work is to follow the record.”

I.

William Worth was born about 1640 and came to America from Devonshire, England. In 1662 he went to Nantucket as a “half share” man to pursue the occupation of a seaman. The grant to him, made July 20, 1662, reads as follows:

“These presents do witness that wee whose names are underwritten do give and grant unto William Worth sailer half a share of Land and meadow wood and Timber and all manner of privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging upon the Island of Nantucket both house Lot and other Division of land, meadow, wood, Timber and Commonage we say half as much as any one of the Twenty first purchasers have both in plantation and patent Right to him the aforsaid William Worth, his heirs and assigns, forever upon Conditions that he pay his proportion of all charges of purchasing of the pattent and Indian right and all other necessary concerning the English rights and also to come and Dwell on the Island and to Employ himself or be Employed on sea affairs for himself or such person or persons as are Inhabiting on the Island or any of the purchasers at such seasons as are Convenient and for such hire as they shall agree on which shall be according to Reason and not to leave the Island for three years time after the date hereof."

William Worth married, first, April 11, 1665, at Nantucket, Sarah Macy. He had a fair education, as appears from the early records of Nantucket, much of which are in his handwriting. He was quite active in Nantucket affairs, having been five times chosen a Selectman, three times an Assistant Magistrate, four times Assessor, and for many years Clerk of the Court. There were no clergymen at Nantucket during the first half century after it was settled, and William Worth is believed to have officiated as magistrate at most of the marriages for many years before his death. In 1676 he purchased from Thomas Macy one-quarter of one-half a share of land. The Worth homestead was in the No-Bottom Pond section of Nantucket, bounded north by the Old Road and west by Crooked Lane. William Worth died in the 12th month, 1724.

Sarah Macy, the first wife of William Worth, was born in Salisbury, Mass., August 1, 1646, and died in Nantucket in 1701. She was a daughter of Thomas Macy and Sarah Hopcott, his wife, whose marriage probably took place in 1643. Sarah Hopcott, the wife of Thomas Macy, was born in Chilmark, England, in 1612. Thomas Macy is said to have come from Chilmark, County Wiltshire, England, to Newbury, and was made a freeman September 6, 1639. He was probably one of the original settlers of Salisbury, and was one of the seven Selectmen "to order all the affairs of the town of Salisbury (excepting giving out of lands)," elected the 4th of the 3d month, 1643, for a six months' term of office. He was again chosen one of the Selectmen the 7th of the 12th month, 1652. He was Deputy to the General Court in 1654. He was frequently called upon for public service in Salisbury, and was the owner of a thousand acres of land, "a good house and considerable stock." He was one of the original ten purchasers of Nantucket named in the deed from Thomas Mayhew dated July 2, 1659. While the purchasers originally numbered ten, in the following February or shortly thereafter they added to their number ten more as partners, and the ten so taken in as well as the first ten are commonly referred to as the "first purchasers." According to tradition, Thomas Macy is credited with being the first permanent English settler of Nantucket. His house lot was on the eastern side of Reed Pond, then a creek extending from the north shore south of the road. Thomas Macy died in Nantucket, April 19, 1682.

II.

John Worth, only child of (I) William Worth and Sarah Macy, his first wife, was born in Nantucket, May 19, 1666, and married, first, September 22, 1684, Miriam Gardner. After the death of his first wife he removed to Martha's Vineyard, and died in Edgartown, aged about sixty-four years.

Miriam Gardner, the first wife of John Worth, died about 1700. She was a daughter of Richard Gardner and Sarah Shattuck (daughter of Samuel Shattuck), his wife. Richard Gardner was a son of Thomas Gardner and Margaret Frier, his wife, and was born probably in England. He came to America about 1640, and was a resident of Salem. He removed to Nantucket, where he was granted a half share of accommodation March 22, 1666 or 1667, to exercise his trade as a seaman. His house lot was around Wesco Pond, afterwards called Lily Pond, and was so irregular in form as to be called the "Crooked Record." He was Chief Magistrate in 1673 and held other town offices. Richard Gardner died January 23, 1688. Sarah Shattuck, his widow, died in 1724, aged about ninety-two years.

III.

Joseph Worth, son of (II) John Worth and Miriam Gardner, his first wife, was born probably in 1696, and married, September 8, 1720, Lydia Gorham. He resided in Nantucket, and died the 14th of the 7th month, 1790.

Lydia Gorham, the wife of Joseph Worth, died the 1st of the 3d month, 1763.

On her father's side Lydia Gorham was descended from:

1. James Gorham and Agnes Bennington, his wife.
2. Ralph Gorham, son of (1) James Gorham and Agnes Bennington, his wife. He was probably of Benfield, England.
3. John Gorham, son of (2) Ralph Gorham. He was baptized at Barnstable, Mass., January 28, 1621. In 1643 he was in Plymouth and in 1648 in Marshfield. He was Constable in 1651. In 1653 he was on the Grand Jury at Yarmouth and served there as one of the Committee on Military Affairs. In 1672 and 1673 he was Surveyor of Highways, and in 1673 Selectman of Yarmouth. He was a Lieutenant in the war with the Dutch. In 1675 he was a Captain of the Second Company, Plymouth Forces, in the war against King Philip, and on December 17 of that year participated in the "great fight" (Swamp Fight) with the Indians, in which "General Winslow with Plymouth forces under Captain Gorham and Major Bradford marched in centre." John Gorham died in Swansea, Mass., February 3 (or 5), 1676, of fever contracted in the service, being on duty there as Captain. He married, about 1643, Desire Howland, who was born about 1623 and died September 13, 1683. She was a daughter of John Howland and Elizabeth Tilley, his wife, who were married in 1623. John Howland was born in London, or possibly in Essex County, England, in 1592 or 1593. In 1620 he was one of the Mayflower Pilgrims and the thirteenth signer of the Mayflower Compact. He settled in Plymouth, and was Assistant in 1633 and 1635 and Deputy for the years 1641, 1645, 1646, 1648, 1658, 1661, 1663, 1666, 1667 and 1670. He died in Plymouth, February 23, 1673. Elizabeth Tilley, the wife of John Howland, was born in 1607 and died December 21, 1687. She was a daughter of John Tilley, who was a Mayflower Pilgrim in 1620 and the sixteenth signer of the Mayflower Compact.

4. Shubael Gorham, son of (3) John Gorham and Desire Howland, his wife. He resided in Barnstable, Mass., and married Puella Hussey (see 4, page 14).

Lydia Gorham, who married (III) Joseph Worth, was a daughter of (4) Shubael Gorham and Puella Hussey, his wife.

On her mother's side Lydia Gorham was descended from:

1. John Hussey and Mary Wood (or Moor), his wife.
2. Christopher Hussey, son of (1) John Hussey and Mary Wood (or Moor), his wife. He was baptized in Dorking, County Surrey, England, February

18, 1599. When a young man he spent some time in Holland, where he met Theodate Batchelder, whom he married. They came to America and settled first in Lynn, Mass. Christopher Hussey early removed to Newbury, where he was one of the town's Selectmen in 1636, and in 1638 was one of the first settlers of Hampton, N. H., where he held several town offices. He was a Deputy for Hampton in 1658. He also is said to have participated in the settlement of Haverhill. Although one of the original ten purchasers of Nantucket named in the deed from Thomas Mayhew dated July 2, 1659, he never lived at Nantucket and about 1671 he sold his lands to his sons. Christopher Hussey was a seafaring man, and died March 6, 1686. Theodate Batchelder, his wife, was born in England in 1596 and died in Hampton, N. H., October 20, 1649. She was the eldest daughter of the Reverend Stephen Batchelder and his first wife.

The Reverend Stephen Batchelder (the name sometimes being spelled Bachelder, Bachelor and Bachiler) was born in England in 1560. After graduating from the College of St. John, Oxford, in 1586, he entered the church, and on July 15, 1587, was instituted as Vicar of Wherwell, Hants. In 1605 he was "depryved" of his living, and the tradition is that he fled to Holland. However, in 1622 he resided in Newton Stacy, a hamlet near Wherwell, and still preached Puritan doctrines. He was a passenger in the "William and Francis" which reached Boston, June 5, 1632. He had accepted a call from the church at Lynn, then the residence of his son-in-law, Christopher Hussey, and commenced his ministrations there June 8, 1632, by baptizing four children, first baptizing his grandson and namesake and refusing until afterwards to baptize the first white child born in Lynn. Shortly after his arrival in Lynn he came into conflict with the authorities. He became a freeman May 5, 1635. In February, 1636, he removed to Ipswich and gave up active work in the ministry. In the spring of 1638, after having walked from Ipswich to a point near Yarmouth on Cape Cod, in an endeavor to form a colony there, he removed to Newbury, where his son-in-law, Christopher Hussey, then resided. Later in that year, he was one of those petitioning the General Court for leave to begin a plantation at Winnicunnet, an Indian settlement which he had previously visited, and the petition having been granted September 6, 1638, he was one of the little band which located there and founded the third white settlement in New Hampshire. It was made a town June 7, 1639, and later in the same year, at the request of Batchelder, its name was changed to Hampton. Batchelder's second wife, who accompanied him to America, died in 1642. His house and library having been destroyed by fire, about 1644 he sold his land in Hampton and removed to Portsmouth, where he preached occasionally. In 1648, when eighty-eight years of age, he married his housekeeper, who in 1650 was convicted of adultery and sentenced to be publicly whipped and branded with the letter "A". Batchelder sued for divorce but the Court ordered that the couple should live together as man and wife and that if either should desert the other both should be apprehended and brought again before the Court. After conveying his American estate to his son-in-law, Christopher Hussey, in 1654 or thereabouts Batchelder returned to England, without his wife. He died in 1660 at Hackney, a village and parish in Middlesex two miles from London. The Batchelder Genealogy, from which the foregoing is taken, states that less is known of the life of Stephen Batchelder than of most of the founders of New England, but that few of the early Puritans were more widely known in their day and none had a more checkered career. The New England Family History, commenting on Oliver Wendell Holmes' reference to the Reverend Stephen Batchelder as "that terrible old sinner and ancestor of great men," claims that as to the first proposition there has been a vast amount of controversy but that as to the second there can be no doubt, naming among his descendants

Daniel Webster, John Greenleaf Whittier, General Benjamin F. Butler and others.

3. Stephen Hussey, son of (2) Christopher Hussey and Theodate Batchelder, his wife. He was born in 1632 in Lynn, Mass., being the second child to be born in that town. He married, October 8, 1676, Martha Bunker, and settled in Nantucket. He was a seafaring man, had lived at Barbados and had accumulated a little property. At the time of the organization of the Society of Friends at Nantucket, in 1708, he was one of the petitioners, a somewhat anomalous position as he was a most persistent litigant. He was a master mariner, and sailed between Nantucket, Boston and New York. He was three times Constable and once Selectman and Assessor. He was convicted of smuggling ten gallons of rum, and his ten reasons of appeal show a very ingenious mind. He was the largest landowner at Nantucket of his day, and built three houses for himself and family, "one on Federal Street near Chestnut, another at Monomoy and a third at Shim-moo." He died at Nantucket, April 2, 1718. Martha Bunker, his widow, died on the 21st of the 9th month, 1744. She was a daughter of George Bunker and Jane Godfrey, his wife, who were married probably about 1645. George Bunker resided at Ipswich, Mass., and died May 16, 1658. Jane Godfrey, his widow, married, second, Richard Swain (see 1, page 15) and died at Nantucket, October 31, 1662, her death being the earliest recorded in the town records. George Bunker was the first of that name in America and was a son of William Bunker, a French Huguenot who fled to England to avoid religious persecution. Originally the name was Bon Coeur, which doubtless was corrupted into Bunker.

4. Puella Hussey, daughter of (3) Stephen Hussey and Martha Bunker, his wife. She was born October 10, 1677, and married Shubael Gorham (see 4, page 11).

Lydia Gorham, who married (III) Joseph Worth, was a daughter of (4) Puella Hussey and Shubael Gorham, her husband.

IV.

Thomas Worth, son of (111) Joseph Worth and Lydia Gorham, his wife, was born in Nantucket, the 1st of the 11th month, 1736. He married, second, the 9th of the 7th month, 1772, Judith Swain, widow of Christopher Barnard. Thomas Worth removed from Nantucket, the 30th of the 10th month, 1775. He eventually settled at Hudson, N. Y., where he died the 22d of the 3d month, 1823. The manuscript before referred to (see pages 5-6) states that Thomas Worth "was a stern, strong-minded man, a noted seaman, and much addicted to mathematics and tobacco." His great-grandson, (172) Franklin Olcott, used to say to his children that Thomas Worth was a Nantucket Quaker and sea captain, and that when he was about to sail he would tell his crew he would have no swearing aboard his ship—that any swearing to be done he would do himself.

Judith Swain, the second wife of Thomas Worth, was born at Nantucket in 1741. Her first husband was Christopher Barnard, who was lost at sea in 1767. Judith Swain was descended from:

1. Richard Swain, who came to America in 1635, in the ship "Truelove," and was then about thirty-four years old. Before removing to Nantucket he lived in Hampton and Rowley. In 1638 he was one of the first settlers of Hampton, and in the following year was authorized to settle small claims there. In 1639 he was in Rowley. He was made a freeman March 13, 1639. He was twice married; first, in England before coming to America; second, in 1658 or 1659, to Jane Godfrey, widow of George Bunker of Ipswich, Mass. (see 3, page 14). Afterwards Richard Swain removed to Nantucket. He and his son John by his first wife were two of the original ten purchasers of Nantucket named in the deed of July 2, 1659, from Thomas Mayhew. Richard Swain's house lot was on both sides of the cove formed by the northwesterly extension of Hummock Pond. He was not an educated man and his signatures were by mark. In October, 1664, he was chosen one of two Surveyors of Highways for the ensuing year. He died April 14, 1682.

2. John Swain, son of (1) Richard Swain and his first wife. He was born in 1633, and married, before removing to Nantucket, Mary Wyer. John Swain was the only child of his father's first marriage who came to Nantucket, and he probably accompanied his father there. He was once Highway Surveyor, four times Assessor, and once Assistant Magistrate. He died in 1715 or 1717. Mary Wyer, the wife of John Swain, was a daughter of Nathaniel Wyer and Sarah, his wife. Nathaniel Wyer was a "half share" man, and was called Goodman Wyer. He died in Nantucket, March 1, 1681, at the age of fifty years. At the time of his death he owned five acres of land on the west side of Goodman Wyer's Pond and also five acres of land west of Hummock Pond.

3. Joseph Swain, son of (2) John Swain and Mary Wyer, his wife. He was born July 17, 1673, and married Marah (or Mary) Sibley, of Salem.

4. Caleb Swain, son of (3) Joseph Swain and Marah (or Mary) Sibley, his wife. He was born probably about 1700, and married, the 7th of the 12th month, 1726 or 1727, Margaret Paddock, daughter of Joseph Paddock and Sarah, his wife. Caleb Swain died the 25th of the 7th month, 1785. Margaret Paddock, his widow, died the 26th of the 5th month, 1789.

Judith Swain, who married (IV) Thomas Worth, was a daughter of (4) Caleb Swain and Margaret Paddock, his wife.

V.

Deborah Worth, daughter of (IV) Thomas Worth and Judith Swain, his second wife, was born the 26th of the 4th month, 1773, and married Josiah Olcott (see 1, page 17).

d., unmarried, November 13, 1899.

Sometime after the close of the War of the Revolution Josiah Olcott removed to Hudson, N. Y., then a thriving seaport with a large and profitable whaling fleet. He erected a six hundred foot rope walk, and in 1785 with a partner commenced the manufacture of cordage for all purposes. The success of the enterprise was immediate. After the death of his partner the business was continued by Josiah Olcott.

A great-granddaughter of Josiah Olcott states that her father, (172) Franklin Olcott, informed her that he used to play backgammon with Josiah Olcott, his grandfather, who told him how when he was a boy of about sixteen he shot at the Red Coats from behind a fence. Josiah Olcott may have served in General Putnam's regiment of Connecticut farmers and possibly was referring to the battle of Bunker Hill. There a part of the battle was fought from behind the famous fence which served as a barricade.

Josiah Olcott died in Hudson, N. Y., January 24, 1860, in the one hundredth year of his age. The following is quoted from an obituary which appeared in the Hudson Gazette, January, 1860:

“Mr. Olcott was the oldest citizen of Hudson and, as far as we know, of Columbia County, and had resided here since 1783. His residence was then corner North Third and State streets, now the property of William F. Ball. He was born in 1760 at Stratford, Conn. * * * He was a time honored member of our city and a resident, a neighbor and a friend to all with whom he became acquainted. How many have grown up to manhood who can look back upon the days of their boyhood and see our deceased friend in the days of his industry and business perseverance, having a kind word of advice to all. Identified as he was and has been with the youth of our city, always ready and willing to carry forward any arrangement for the benefit and prosperity of the city, to which he was devotedly and ardently attached, blessed with a fond and doting family, who have all grown up in years, beloved and respected by all who know them, he has left recorded upon the record of time a name unsullied, a reputation such as Pope delighted to honor and respect: 'An honest man's the noblest work of God.' * * *."

Deborah Worth, the wife of Josiah Olcott, was born in Nantucket, Mass., April 26, 1773, and died November 12, 1846.

73. Dudley Olcott.
74. Frederic Pepoon Olcott.

Thomas Worth Olcott for several years was employed by the Columbia Bank of Hudson, N. Y., and while still in his teens removed from Hudson to Albany, N. Y. In 1811, upon the organization of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank of Albany, he entered its employ as junior clerk, in 1817 became Cashier of the Bank, and in 1836 its President, a position he held at the time of his death. His financial talents were widely recognized; Salmon P. Chase frequently consulted him when perfecting plans for a National Bank System, and President Lincoln offered him the post of Comptroller of the Currency, which he refused because of the demands of his other interests. As President of the Albany and West Stockbridge Railroad Company he successfully dealt with the financing of the city bonds issued for the construction of the Boston and Albany Railroad at the time of its acquisition of the Albany and West Stockbridge line. In 1849 he purchased the old Ten Broeck homestead in Albany, now known as Arbour Hill, and after alterations to the mansion were completed took up his residence there for the remainder of his life. He was known as one of the most charitable of the citizens of Albany. He was President of the Trustees of the Albany Law School, President of the Directors of the Dudley Observatory, President of the Albany Agricultural and Arts Association, President of the Albany Hospital, President of the Albany Female Academy, a trustee of the Albany Academy, and President of the Albany Cemetery Association. He died in Albany, N. Y., March 23, 1880.

Caroline Dwight Pepoon, the wife of Thomas Worth Olcott, was born February 4, 1797, and died March 12, 1867. She was a daughter of Daniel Pepoon and Elizabeth James, his second wife.

Daniel Pepoon was born in Hebron, Conn., November 6, 1756. He removed to Stockbridge, Mass., where he married, second, Elizabeth James, and later resided and was engaged in business in Pittsfield, Mass., where he kept the famous Coffee House. He died in Stockbridge, November 12, 1820. Daniel Pepoon was a son of Silas Pepoon and Ann Day, his wife, who were married in Hebron, Conn., October 1, 1747. Silas Pepoon was born in Colchester, Conn., January 5, 1722; he removed to Hebron, and later to Stockbridge, where he and his wife died. Silas Pepoon was a son of Joseph Pepoon and Mary Dibble, his first wife, who were married in Colchester, December 12, 1717. Mary Dibble was a daughter of Ebenezer Dibble (sometimes spelled Daboll and Dibell), of Colchester, and Mary Loomis, his first wife. Joseph Pepoon is first mentioned in 1710 in the town records of Colchester. In 1715 he deeded certain real estate. He died in Colchester in 1755.

Elizabeth James, the second wife of Daniel Pepoon, was born in Newport, R. I., January 5, 1771, and died November 1, 1842. She was a daughter of Daniel James and Mary Giles Emmes, his wife, who were married in Newport, October 21, 1769, and later lived in Stockbridge, Mass., and Weybridge, Vt. Daniel James was a Surveyor of Highways in Stockbridge in 1784 and 1788. He was a son of Captain Daniel James who was lost at sea. Mary Giles Emmes, the wife of Daniel James, was born in Bristol, R. I., October 13, 1753, and died in Weybridge, Vt., February 18, 1820. She was a daughter of Henry Emmes and Mary Giles, his wife, who were married July 7, 1743. Henry Emmes was a son of Nathaniel Emmes (or Emms), who emigrated to Boston from London, England, in the latter part of the seventeenth century and married, in Boston, Hannah Grafton.

 d., unmarried, November 21, 1880.

About the year 1849 Thomas Worth Olcott sent his son Alexander, with his two elder brothers Robert and Theodore, to the village of Corning, N. Y., to help in its development. Alexander formed a partnership with B. W. Payne, under the firm name of Payne & Olcott, for the manufacture of stationary and portable engines, boilers and other railroad supplies. At about that time the Blossburg Railroad and the Erie Railroad were being constructed, the former a coal road carrying coal from the Blossburg, Pa., coal fields to Corning from whence it was reshipped by canal. Upon the death of B. W. Payne, Alexander Olcott sold his interest in this very successful business and retired. He served one or two terms in the New York State Legislature, and thereafter lived and enjoyed the life of a country gentleman.

Alexander Olcott died April 21, 1887. Catherine Amanda Mallory, his widow, died May 21, 1893. She was a daughter of Lauren Mallory and Polly Mead, his wife.

Children.

172. Franklin Olcott.

188. Eliza Yates Olcott, b. December 18, 1836;
d. January 19, 1841.

Eliza Yates, first wife of Theodore Olcott, died January 3, 1837. She was a daughter of the Hon. John Van Ness Yates, of Albany, N. Y., and a granddaughter of the Hon. Robert Yates, Chief Justice of the State of New York at the time Washington took his first inaugural oath. During the Revolution Robert Yates acted as Chairman of the Secret Committee, appointed by the Committee of Safety, which caused a great chain to be placed across the Hudson River at West Point and otherwise caused the river to be obstructed, thus preventing British ships from ascending to Albany.

Theodore Olcott married, second, October 1, 1840, Frances Mary Jenkins.

Children.

189. Jane Matilda Olcott, b. August 15, 1841;
d. December 22, 1841.

- 187. Virginia Olcott.

Franklin Olcott served for many years in the United States consular service, at Jerusalem, Palestine; Montreal, Canada; Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany; Paris and Nantes, France. During the Franco-Prussian war the duty of conducting the United States Consulate in France fell to Franklin Olcott, then Vice Consul General. With his wife and child he remained at his post in Paris during its siege and the uprising of the Commune. His apartment was wrecked by bullets and his wife and child were shot at—a bullet passing over her shoulder missed the child she held. He and his family starved, and an unnamed infant (not included in the foregoing list of children) born to Franklin Olcott and his wife during this period died almost immediately.

Franklin Olcott died June 11, 1924. Julia Emily Fish, his widow, was born October 26, 1840, and died September 1, 1927. She was a descendant of Robert Fish and Alice, his wife, of Great Bowden, Leicestershire, England, through their son, John Fish, who came to New England before 1650 and settled in Stratford and Stonington, Conn.

In 1830 Horatio Josiah Olcott removed from Hudson to Cherry Valley, N. Y. He was for many years President of the National Central Bank, the oldest New York State bank west of Albany.

The following is taken from the "Recollections of Cornelia Beekman Schwartz," as told to her nephew, Abraham Beekman Cox, in 1932, at Cherry Valley:

"Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Olcott, after they were married, had undoubtedly the usual experiences of young married couples, but it is related that on one occasion Mrs. Olcott was obliged to leave the house, and also the baby, in charge of her good husband. He was undoubtedly perplexed with some financial problem, and when his wife returned, and asked for the baby, he discovered that he did not know where the baby was. The only thing to do was to hunt, and eventually the baby was discovered sleeping peacefully on one of the pantry shelves [another version says the baby was found shut up in a bureau drawer], though how it got there is not told."

Horatio Josiah Olcott died in Cherry Valley, N. Y., June 25, 1888. Harriet M. Leonard, his widow, died in January, 1904. She was a daughter of Captain Daniel Leonard, of West Springfield, Mass.
